

The Register

A working register of the organisations represented across the [DA] Top 50 Impact List community.

What The List Is

The [DA] Top 50 Impact List identifies the individuals shaping how digital assets are built, regulated and adopted in Australia.

Now in its fourth year, the List draws from across the system: banks and payments providers, asset managers and superannuation funds, exchanges and infrastructure providers, law and advisory firms, regulators, law enforcement and government.

This Register records a working list of the organisations represented across the Digital Asset sector. It is supplemented in real time as organisations are surfaced.

How It Works

The [DA] Top 50 maps where influence sits in Australia's digital asset sector. It is not a vote and not an award.

Names are surfaced through two channels. A candidate pool of more than 500 names compiled by BlockchainAPAC each year and open nominations, which are free and carry a name only. A panel of senior assessors works through the pool in structured discussion, informed by wider soundings across the sector.

Candidates are considered against institutional position, policy proximity, capital deployment, technical contribution and ethical alignment, applied as qualitative judgement rather than a weighted formula.

The test throughout is whether the sector would look different had the person not acted over the past year.
